VENEZUELA NEW PERIL TO U. S.

Kaiser Plots U-Boat Base on South American Republic Island.

(The International News Service.) Washington, June 2.—A German plot to establish a U-boat base in the Caribbean, was discovered here today. The intrigue, which contemplated securing the island of Margarita off the northern coast of Venezuela from that government, was discovered by United States agents. Full information was cable immediately to the state department.

Secretary Lansing at once wired the facts to President Woodrow Wilson, United States minister at Caracas, with instructions to present them to President Gomez together with the private declaration that the sale of the island would be regarded by this government as an unfriendly act.

It is known here that an American battle squadron is ready to seize the island and all the Venezuelan ports, should Gomez consent to the sale.

Believed Latest Zimmerman Effort.

The plot and its developments bear the hand mark of the Alfred Zimmermann, German secretary of state, who was responsible for the intrigue to entice Japan and Mexico against the United States.

First Plot Aroused America. Germany had her campaign in full swing when President Wilson handed Bernstorff his passports. Then came the seizure by an American secret service men of the Zimmerman note to Mexico promising that nation most of the western states, if it would join with Japan in attacking the United States, should this nation declare war on Germany. The Zimmerman note aroused this government to unwonted efforts. Germany already had practically secured a submarine base from Colombia in the Gulf of Darien. Under the guise of an agricultural colony, Germany has secured an extensive strip of land on the Gulf, giving her complete control of the Atlantic entrance to the Panama canal. Her propaganda attained a success in Bogota beyond her fondest hopes. The hatred felt in Colombia for the United States was played upon and the entire upper class of that nation was a unit for the Germans.

Chief Features of Russian Situation

Petrograd dispatches tell of a reign of thievery and murder in the Russian capital. The provisional government in Petrograd is following the riots incited by anarchists. There have been royalist outbreaks in other parts of Russia resulting in the arrest of Grand Duke Nicholas, former commander-in-chief of the Russian armies, and the transfer of the czar to the "water" fortress of Peter and Paul.

The United States railroad commission to Russia has arrived at Vladivostok. It will proceed to Petrograd tomorrow.

No direct word has been received by the Washington state department from Ambassador Francis at Petrograd since May 29.—For two weeks the department has waited vainly for acknowledgment of the receipt of the American government's message to Russia, stating in a clear cut fashion America's war aims. Up to late Saturday not the slightest clue has been obtained as to what happened to the message.

FOOD CONTROL BILL PASSED BY SENATE

Lever Measure Provides Big Fund for Stimulation of Production and Food Census.

Amendment Gives President Full Power to Shut Trade Boards for Futures Trading.

(The International News Service.) Washington, June 2.—After days of discussion the senate today passed the Lever bill providing for a food census and the stimulation of production. The bill carries a total appropriation of $10,000,000. It is now returned to the house where the changes made by the senate will be acted upon.

The bill to create a food controller will be taken up soon. The entire discussion today was limited to an amendment prohibiting speculation on grain exchanges. It is intended to prevent wheat and other cereals from attaining the sky-high price recently reached in Chicago.

President May Halt Trading.

Senator Nelson of Minnesota, was the author of the amendment which was accepted by a vote of 21 to 17. This provision defines grain exchanges and grain traders. It stipulates that if a speculator buying or selling for future delivery during the war endangers the "unduly or unreasonably" enhance the price of wheat or other cereals to the injury to the people of the United States the president may request trading to cease on the exchange for a period specified by him. If this request is not complied with promptly the president can suspend operations arbitrarily. Penalties for non-compliance are fixed at $10,000 fine and not more than one year in jail.

An amendment increasing the size of homesteads from 320 to 440 acres was adopted to apply in Colorado, New Mexico, Utah, Arizona and California.

WATCHING WOMEN IN KIDNAPING CASE

(By Associated Press Local Wire.)

Springfield, Mo., June 2.—A score of detectives were set at work tonight dogging the footsteps of strange women in Springfield on the theory that one of them knew the whereabouts of 14-month-old Lloyd Keets, heir to a $3,000,000 estate.

The police now feel certain that a woman was a member of the gang of kidnapers that carried off the infant, while his father, J. Holland Keets and his mother, were dancing at the Country club.

They believe they may find another remarkable woman criminal of the type of Helen Buyle, of "Billy" Whitt's kidnaping fame.

Letter Written by Woman. Another study this afternoon of the letter received by Mr. Keets demanding ransom led detectives to believe the writers was not only a woman but a woman of education.

ANARCHY RULES IN PETROGRAD

Russia's Government Fighting for Existence in Face of Pillage, Arson and Murder.

"WEALTH FOR ALL," CRY

(The International News Service.)

Petrograd, June 2.—From amid the ruins of anarchy, the serpent of anarchy raised its head today. It crept rapidly thru the barely finished ground work of new freedom. It spat pillage, arson, murder.

To the tune of "Down with authority," it darted at the throat of the capital, where a makeshift government was struggling to find its bearings. In the throbbing grip of this new reptile of revolt, more poisonous than any fought before, the coalition cabinet is tonight fighting its life and death battle.

Soldiers Indulge in Orgy. While bands of anarchists enlivened by the uniforms of soldiers and sailors were tearing thru the streets of Petrograd, flourishing rifles, revolvers and grenades and indulging in an orgy of brigandage and murder, the telegraph brought alarming news from far-away Tiflis.

There in the heart of the "Caucasus," the cry of "back to anarchy" has been raised. In a flash it dawned on the people here what War Minister Kerensky when he said, the other day that Russia was in danger of losing not only Armenia, but also the "Caucasus," all along both fronts the Turks have been rallying in late.

In the wake of this news came the most sensational information of the day. Grand Duke Nicholas Nicolaevitch, has been arrested. Royalist outbreaks in the Caucasus could mean but one thing—a plot to make the ideal of the army czar—if not of Russia, then of an independent "Caucasian" realm.

Ex-Czar Planted Potatoes.

Promptly the Petrograd authorities turned their attention to Nicholas Romanoff. From his palace at Tsarskoe Selo, where he has been peacefully planting potatoes, he is to be immediately transferred to the fortress of Peter and Paul, lest the new chaos permit him to exchange the spade for his old scepter. The anarchist plot has begun about midday. First, the rioters are growing hourly in noise, fury and numbers. The government thus far has not raised a finger to stop them. The rioters are trying to copy the second phase of the French revolution, and are succeeding. They have even borrowed the name for one of their black banners is inscribed "Long live the revolution and the commune," their only aim is destruction and they admit it.

They have but one foe, they cry—capitalism. As they storm thru the streets making many stores their goal, they are shouting, they tell the awe-stricken crowds that the poor have nothing to fear from them—since there is nothing to take from the poor. Consequently, and thru the lure of "wealth for all," the rioting mobs are steadily gaining in recruits. There is nothing amateurish about the revelry and plunder. The rioters are led by hundreds of "experts." The same criminals who in the joyous tumult of the March revolt were freed by their sympathetic brethren in the New Freedom are now in the front ranks of the mobs that threaten to undermine all that has been gained since the czar was overthrown. How long the provisional government can last in the face of this new reign of terror is problematical. One dunicker, A. Kononov, already has been used for the purpose of commerce and trade. He said he was too much hampered by the socialist government.

The army is hopelessly split as a result of the new order of things under Kerensky. One side, believed to be in the majority, welcomes his rule in discipline, feeling that it is the only way to restore the army to what it was.

The other side, having tasted revolt and unaccounted "freedom," organizing to express its displeasure with the new war chief. His rules, especially that against desertion, are too stern, they assert.

Meanwhile the labor situation is becoming more and more menacing. The workers are making preposterous demands. Industries are either entirely idle or crippled. The liberty loan is a failure so far. The government is trying forcible contributions.

Reduce Flood Fund.

(By Associated Press Local Wire.) Washington, June 2.—Agreement was reached by senate and house conferees today on the sundry civil appropriation, which was reduced in total to $10,000,000. The appropriation of $10,000,000 for flood control work along the Mississippi and Sacramento rivers was reduced to $8,000,000.

ITALIANS AGAIN CUT TEUTON LINE

(The International News Service.)

London, June 2.—Italy's Carso army has made an important local advance in the direction of Trieste in the last 24 hours.

To the south of Castiglavizza, where its left wing is trying to turn the Austro-Hungarian position on the formidable Medveza mountain range, the Vimy ridge of the Carso. Italy's army cut a gash of 400 yards into the Austrian line on a front of 2 1/2 miles. To the north, the Austrian center and right still hold firm are continuing their counter attacks. These were stiffed by artillery fire.

A message from the Kaiser to Emperor Charles congratulates him on the tenacious resistance of the Austrian troops.

In a telegram to the empress, the Kaiser quotes Hindenburg as having reported the entire spring drive as having come to a definite conclusion.

Prepare for New British Drive.

Dispatches from Germany show, however, that a new British offensive is looked for this time along the Belgian coast. British flyers have again attacked the three main coast bases of the Germans in Belgium and a big air battle. Artillery firing is increasing hourly all along the front from Loos to the sea. This drive, if it comes, Hindenburg apparently means to parry by a strong counter offensive on the Arras front. Both Bullecourt and Vimy have been subjected to a violent bombardment by the German big guns during the last 24 hours, British headquarters reported.

Portuguese Army in France.

In reconnoitering raids on the west front, Portuguese soldiers have been taken prisoners by the war office at Berlin. This is the first report showing that Portugal has sent an expedition to France.

Economy Day and the Liberty Bonds

(By C. A. Sutherland of the Firm of Ochsenchlagel & Sutherland)

Everywhere about us is the appeal to buy Liberty bonds. Uncle Sam is desirous of getting right into the fight; hands unshackled, muscles taut, vision clarified. To him this means a speedy and less expensive victory, less expense in lives, less expense in treasure.

Uncle Sam is us; you, I, each and everyone. His fight is ours; ours to win or lose, to be determined on how we wage it. But we are in this as in past wars to win, so let us by every act, by every ounce of energy help win. Those unable to lend brains, cunning, might or brawn, can help do their share by investing in Liberty bonds. Those economically restricted can free themselves by shrewd buying and then using the money thus saved for liberty loan investment.

Economy Monday points the way to bigger savings; to savings that can help you help win this war. Every bargain charted on the pages of this paper is a sign post to economy; every advertisement of Monday bargains helps open the doors to a liberty bond. If not directly, then indirectly; but indirectly it is it's a spoke in the wheel. Let's put our shoulders to it.

FAIR AND CONTINUED COOL WEATHER SEEN

MODERATE TO VARIABLE WINDS MOSTLY EASTERLY, EXPECTED.

The weather forecast for Chicago and vicinity:

Generally fair Sunday and Monday, continuing rather cool. Moderate variable winds, mostly easterly. For Illinois:

Generally fair Sunday and Monday, slightly warmer in west and central part of the state Monday.

MILITIA TO FRANCE BEFORE SNOW FLIES

(The International News Service.)

Washington, D. C., June 2.—The United States will send 180,000 troops to Europe before winter, according to plans being worked out by the army general staff. About 125,000 men will be guardsmen. The guard regiments will be given a short period of intensive training at their state camps and the federal divisional commitments will then be sent to France to complete their preparations behind the lines, as announced by the International News Service last night.

Pershing Will Command.

The entire command will be under command of Maj. Gen. J. J. Pershing. The sending of the guardsmen abroad is in answer to the appeal from France for man power. The pressing necessity for every soldier available at the front, if Germany is to be defeated, has been made clear to President Wilson by Marshal Foch and others.

Secretary of War Baker refused to comment this afternoon on the plan to send national guardsmen to Europe.

"The only announcement so far made is that a division will be sent to Europe under General Pershing," he said. "Any other announcements that the department may have to make will be given out as deemed expedient."

Secretary Baker let it be known that he is urging action by congress in making General Pershing a lieutenant-general. His recommendation is that all the officials now holding the rank of major-general be made lieutenant-generals and that the brigadier-generals be made major-generals. He would abolish the rank of brigadier-general, leaving two grades in the major-general rank.

NONE OF GUARD NEED REGISTER

Men Who Fail to Take Federal Oath First to Be Drafted.

PROVOST MARSHAL RULE

No members of the national guard, even those men who have not taken the federal oath, will be required to register Tuesday.

However, the militiamen of draft age who have refused to sign up for service outside the country will be the first men taken under the selective draft, it is stated.

The provost marshal announced from Washington that no members of the national guard would have to register.

It is from the 100,000 men who are expected to register Tuesday, draft day, that the new national army of 500,000 and the 200,000 or 300,000 more that may be needed to fill up the ranks of the regular army and the national guard, will be recruited.

The four Aurora militia companies have in the neighborhood of 300 men enlisted. Most of these have taken the Hay or federal oath, which puts them in national service. The names of the men who refused to take the oath are now on record at regimental headquarters and at Springfield and they will be subject to the draft the same as civilians who register Tuesday, the provost marshal has ruled.

Mayor Gets Final Instructions.

Mayor Harley yesterday received final instructions from Adjutant-General Dickson of the Illinois national guard, including one informing him that the militiamen need not register. The local companies will continue to enlist after registration day unless later orders are received. Col. Charles Greene, commanding officer of the regiment, said last night.

The adjutant-general has asked the mayor to make the following section of his final instructions public: Imprisonment for not more than one year is the penalty prescribed for violation of the provisions of the selective service law. This may apply to any individual in the state, male or female, in general, as follows:

To the man required to register—

For failure to do so—

To any officer or agent charged with any duty in connection with registration or exemption—for failure or neglect to perform his or her duty, or fraud in its performance.

To any person, for fraudulent statement or certificates as to fitness of liability of himself or any other person for service, or for evading or adding another to evade the requirements of the law, or the requirements of the regulations thereunder.

The men who fail to register, in addition to suffering the penalty, for such failure will also be duly registered.

Workers Get Orders.

Registrars who are to be in charge of the work here Tuesday were given their final instructions by the board of control, consisting of Mayor Harley, City Clerk Grommes, County Judge Hoover and Health Commissioner Dr. Schwabacher, at a meeting last night in the council chambers at the city hall. Each registrar was given a copy of the final instructions received by the mayor.

City Clerk Grommes was kept busy until late last night filling out cards for non-resident men of the draft age, 21 to 30 years, inclusive. More than 500 cards have already been mailed out of Aurora by men who either are employed here or who have been in the city temporarily. The city clerk and mayor have received more than 100 cards by mail from Aurora men who are out of the city.

Register Now if Leaving Town.

Men of the draft age who are compelled to leave the city before Tuesday should register at their clerk's office here, if first and register. If they do, it mailed Monday, will reach their precincts in time.

The builder of the fire was Archie Barkley, a telephone company employe, Hunter said. "One other time she got home after 2 o'clock in the morning and I was told that she had been out automobile riding with William Lemmerman," Hunter said. "I accused her and she admitted to me that she had been with Lemmerman. Why, she was out number of times until after midnight."

LIBERTY LOAN WEEK IS HERE

Big Push in Aurora Commences Today With Appeals From Patriotic Pastors.

EVERYBODY TO LEND A HAND

"Liberty loan week," the week set aside for the big drive to place liberty loan bonds with the people, is here. The national government is appealing to all loyal Americans to rally to its financial support in the world war.

Patriotic pastors of all Aurora churches will preach today on the liberty loan. Many have already done so, but imbued with a patriotic fervor of the crucial period in our nation's history, they feel that too much emphasis cannot be laid upon this stupendous loan.

Manufacturing plants and business houses thruout the city plan a throng of employees as their part of the intensive program for the week. Better bonds in the popular imagination of $50 and $100 are, in most cases, easily within the reach of the average working man and it is to these that the greatest appeal is being made. To facilitate the placing of orders, employers plan to purchase the government, state or any corporation to be deducted from the regular wage for a stated period, in payment. By this plan, the wageearner, who hitherto may have looked upon a security in any form as an impossibility, is let in upon the ground floor of the safest investment the government has to offer. At the same time, he gains the satisfaction of knowing that when his country called, he responded to its duty.

Business men, commercial clubs, farmers, and all others will devote renewed efforts during the week to the loan bond propaganda.

Local committees are finding little difficulty in gaining subscriptions for the bond, it is reported, as Aurora people generally are anxious to obtain the gilt-edged security.

(The International News Service.)

New York, June 2.—Many rabbis made appeals to their congregations today to subscribe to the liberty loan. Other clergymen will preach loan sermons tomorrow.

One of the 800,000 subscribers has subscribed $1,000,000 to the loan.

Washington, June 2.—W. J. Bryan and Leslie M. Shaw, former secretary of the treasury, subscribed $1,000 and $10,000 respectively to the liberty loan bonds.

Boston, June 2.—Subscriptions of nearly $7,000,000 for the liberty loan were reported today by the New England headquarters.

MEXICANS FLEE DRAFT

(By International News Service.)

El Paso, Texas, June 2.—Warned by Mexican newspapers that they remain in the United States they will be drafted into the army hundreds of Mexicans are fleeing to their native land at various points along the international boundary today. La Republica, printed in Juarez, and other Mexican papers are printing the editorial warnings despite repeated official statements that aliens will not be drafted.

The closing of a score of big copper properties near Nogales, Arizona, is threatened because of the exodus of Mexicans. Sheriff Earhart of Nogales left for the mining properties tonight, in an effort to dissuade the Mexicans from leaving. During the past four weeks nearly 5,000 have returned to Mexico thru this port alone.

MOBILIZING ARMY TO GARNER HARVEST

Federal and State Co-operation Results in Great Movement to Get Men for Farm Work.

Most of 700,000 Retired Farmers in the Nation Are Available for the Work.

Under the government plan for the organization of farm labor, the details of which were announced by the U. S. department of agriculture today, provision is made for nationwide co-operation in the solution of the farm help problem. The work of organization already has been started in about 40 states, and it is expected that eventually every community in the United States will be reached. It is believed that the resultant utilization of emergency labor will begin to have an appreciable effect on the farm labor situation before the season has far advanced. Meanwhile, the immediate and acute problem of supplying labor for the harvest, now beginning in the southwest, is being handled, so far as the United States government's services are concerned, thru the existing employment service of the United States department of labor, which will continue to handle such problems of mass mobilization under the new plan as it has in the past.

Federal and State Co-operation. The plan is based on close co-operation on the part of the United States department of agriculture and the United States department of labor with state committees on national defense charged with labor matters, with the state agricultural colleges, with the county agents, and with county and local or township labor committees or representatives to be established in every locality. The United States department of labor will devote its attention to organizing labor in urban communities and industrial regions, and will co-operate with the farm labor forces where necessary by obtaining extra labor from the populous centers. The plan provides for strictly local handling of all labor problems that can be adjusted locally. The fundamental unit of the organization is the "community man" who, with the assistance of such committees as he may appoint, canvasses his own neighborhood, finds out what farmers need help, and what men are available for supplying the local need, and effects such adjustments as can be made locally. If, after all local adjustments have been made, there remains either a deficit or a surplus of labor, he reports to the "county man," whose business it is to effect adjustments between the several communities in his county. The county man, in turn, reports any deficit or surplus to the "state man," who canvasses the situation for the state as a whole and reports to the department of agriculture, which, in close co-operation with the department of labor, is charged with the distribution of mobile labor for the country as a whole.

Thus each unit in the system acts as a clearing house for its own territory, reporting to the units higher up only when it needs help or has help to offer. The plan provides that supplemental reports shall be submitted by each community man whenever changes in the local labor situation make desirable further adjustments that can not be met with the material at hand, or when a surplus of labor develops which he can not use.

A great many retired farmers, of whom there are 700,000 in the country, may be available for emergency service under this plan of farm labor mobilization. The plans contemplate also the drawing of emergency labor from the cities under the immediate direction of the department of labor, the effective utilization of college students and school boys, and, if necessary, the assignment of volunteer women and girls to rural tasks connected particularly with feeding and caring for harvest hands or extra labor, or with farm canning or drying of surplus perishable products. In other words, the plan contemplates supplying assistance not merely for field operations, but to farm women during their season of heaviest domestic duties.

CALLS SOCIALIST PARTY "ON THE GERMAN SIDE"

(By Associated Press Leased Wire.)

New York, June 2.—Asserting that the socialist party "is probably the greatest single obstacle to the progress of socialism in America," and has been "founded to a program of essentially un-American, un-American and pro-German, John Spargo, socialist writer and member of the national executive committee of the socialist party, announced today that he had resigned from the party. Mr. Spargo declared that the socialist party as a whole "has been, with notable uniformity, on the German side."

Mr. Spargo intimated he will join with others to form a new socialist organization, a "re-orientation of the social-democratic forces of the country upon a sound program of democratic public ownership."

BULGARS MASSACRE SERBS IN UPRISING

(By Associated Press Leased Wire.)

Udine, June 2, Via Paris, 4:15 a. m. Fragmentary news of widespread insurrectionary movements in Serbia is now supplemented by Austrian prisoners captured in the recent Italian advance, who give details of the merciless methods used to crush the uprising.

The insurgents were gradually surrounded by Austrian, German and Bulgarian regiments and all who fell into their hands, chiefly old men, women and children, are declared to have been massacred. In spite of this procedure fierce resistance was offered for three weeks and heavy losses inflicted on the invaders, especially the Bulgarians. The insurgents finally succumbed to superior numbers and the Serbians were hanged by thousands. According to the prisoners, the Bulgarians were guilty of such atrocities especially against women and children that even their Austro-German allies termed them barbaric.

A pessimist is one man who knows what to expect; he expects the worst.

Society

The principal occupation nowadays appears to be the attempt to be commonly decent to the remainder of humanity. Saturday afternoon while strolling about the city, the comment was heard more than once: "I feel as cross as a bear." "I've got the worst touch," etc., etc. In the olden time they selected various forms of trial to bring the people to their senses—famine and a plague of locusts and boils, and other afflictions. Nowadays the powers that be are more subtle—the present method is to announce that rare June is at hand and then dole out the meekest brand of middle-west winter weather. Weather and war-depression together have conspired to make of Aurora anything but a social center.

The Diversions.
There is an attempt to start off the Country club season with some degree of enthusiasm, and judging from the plans announced, weather permitting, it will be one of the few bright spots in a city filled with war preparations. Last evening the first of the informal dancing parties was held at the club.

The Carnival.
The carnival which has kicked up quite a commotion in certain quarters in Aurora and which, it is said, is the carnival's swan song so far as Aurora is concerned, gave its usual downtown resort Saturday afternoon and again in the evening, the players appearing wrapped like north pole adventurers. Friday evening quite a wonderful bit of "fortune telling" was accomplished at this carnival—one of Aurora's wealthy and prominent young men being miraculously told the name of the beloved of his heart by the fortune teller with many cheering prophesies. That several flimsy young men friends of the aforesaid gentleman stood behind him, carefully spelling the woman's name in deaf and dumb alphabet, was just an episode.

The War Preparations.
The Aurora men who have joined the Navy league are heartily invited by the women's section of the league to make themselves known to the women members, as it is necessary that both men and women work on this proposition. Friday a meeting of this woman's section was held in the E. F. Schoeberlein garage for the purpose of making sample articles to be shown in the headquarters at 41 South Broadway and used as patterns by those desiring to work for the league. Those who can afford to pay for the wool used in knitting are asked to do so, in order to swell the fund. Those who cannot afford to pay, will be cordially invited to take work home but it is understood that work will be given out only to experienced knitters, as the league feels that it cannot afford to pay for the wool for experimental knitters. Families which have recruits in the navy, are especially asked to assist, and it is believed also that men who have been sufficiently interested to contribute the membership fee $3.00 (used entirely for recruiting) will assist also in making possible the kits, and other articles, for the comfort of those in the navy. Mrs. Carroll Miller at whose home the first meeting of the woman's section was held, was expected home Saturday night, bringing her little son whom she took to Baltimore for the purpose of consulting the famous surgeon who has been treating him.

Speaking of Wool.
This wool proposition is not all it is cracked up to be, as to price and they predict that conditions will be worse next fall (this just a little ray of sunshine put in as an interlude). George Boynton and son, Harold, left this week for the west upon a buying trip for the wool business in Chicago in which they are engaged. These buying trips mean visits to innumerable western ranches and much handling of the huge wool bales. Most of this wool is still upon the back of the sheep, and not many sheep at that, for ranchers are finding sheep tender birds and are not raising them as was true in the days of unlimited range.

A crack wool buyer can tell almost instantly whether or not a sheep has gone unfed for a certain number of days, by an imperfect spot in the fleece—the wool breaking easily at this point. Said the woman who told this: "Believe me, it going without meals makes my hair the way it is, I eat!"

The Red Cross Work.
It was with pride that the women of the Red Cross coincided in the agreement to send $100 to the cyclone sufferers Saturday morning, for said they. "This will prove to the people that the Aurora chapter of the Red Cross is a permanent organization, formed for the purpose of doing in any form of suffering and disaster." An increasing number of women (many in clubs and societies) are joining to do Red Cross work, while next week the great drive for members will begin. The "City of Lights" has never fallen down very far on anything it has started to do, and there is no reason to feel that the Red Cross membership will not be brought up to the required number.

The Young People at College.
To write this year of the graduation of the young people who are at college is most certainly like Hamlet with Hamlet left out, for any number of them are already, if not "somewhere in France"—at least on the road to training.

A letter from Jane Staples, the pretty daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Hartwell Staples of New York city (formerly of Aurora) who is a student at Barnard college, says that just one boy was secured for the annual sorority party—the others asked had all gone to the front and she had the honor of asking the remaining young man, who had also applied for a commission. By the way, as is known to readers of the press, it was at Barnard that the much-earthened "Collegiate Anti-Militarist League" for connection with which one of the Barnard college senior girls was arrested Thursday of this week. One quite long to hear more of college affairs from Jane, who invariably spends a part of the summer in Aurora with her aunt, Mrs. William Hill, in South Fourth street. It was from Jane, as well as from several former eastern residents, that one learned that there is talk of not opening some of the girls' colleges located near the coast, next fall, the faculties stating that they did not care to assume the responsibility in war time.

Howard Rafferty, the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Rafferty of Geneva, formerly of this city, has passed with flying colors the aviation test and has been accepted at Washington as a part of the country's trained corps of fliers. Howard, a student at Princeton, joined the Princeton flying corps months ago, and has been working strenuously, for he it is known the aviation test is the most severe given to any prospective worker. He, a part of a group of 200 students, has had exceptional opportunities with skilled fliers at the college, studying the mathematical and technical part of the work as well as the "up in the air" part. He had the honor of being one of the lucky 27 of the 200 to be accepted at Washington. Those who have been following the magazine articles covering aviation service, know what mastery of the fast war flying machine means. His final instruction will be given in August—probably in France where are established a number of flying units of young American college men, many of whom have furnished their own machines with which to fly for France. The expense of equipping the Princeton successful fliers is no small matter.

Walter Frazier, a student at Boston "Tech," expected home tomorrow. While his plans are not matured, he has practically decided to join the artillery service.

To speak of the young people down at the University of Illinois is like writing of what was and is not now one there who has gone into that land of perfect peace—Bertha Bay-singer, whose death occurred following surgery for the relief of appendicitis a few days ago.

The only Aurora boy, of whom one is aware, Frank Walker of Galena boulevard, who was to have graduated this year, is way up in Canada, raising crops for the maintenance of the army, went up there a number of months ago. Lawrence Currier, an Illinois boy, is awaiting orders, staying with his people in Aurora.

Beloit college is so scattered that it was said today by Lawrence Miller, a senior spending several days at home, that at least half of the boy students are gone. Lawrence will go back the first of the week for commencement and has not made future plans. His brother Herbert, also a senior, has been tagging wireless work under a mechanical operator, with the idea of going into the government signal corps.

Symphony of Lines in Plum Colored Suit

Of a soft, silvery shade half-way between the lustre on a ripe plum and the leaf of a wisteria blossom is this charming dress, which depends entirely for grace on its long lines and magnificent embroidery, in dull blues, flaming shades of rose and burnished copper. The lines are so simple that one wonders why they were not thought of before and why it took the Callot Soeurs to invent them. There is something almost regal in the length of lines this dress gives, and it is fittingly crowned by a hat of tulle, velvet lattice work and parras.

A fine class of 15 has been specializing in radio work up at Beloit. Miss Carolyn Parker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Parker, graduates this year from Beloit.

At Northwestern there are three graduates from Aurora this year. Walter Miller, Marjorie Mason and Bert Brown. Quantities of Northwestern boys have signed up for service and quantities of others want to do so. Herbert Heiss, a Northwestern student, had the honor of reading his own marriage license in the Chicago press Saturday morning. At present time his own parents living in this city had not succeeded in getting him on the wire. Don Adams, a Northwestern student, is now in England, a part of the English Y. M. C. A. war movement. A letter received by his mother was a combined account of the sea voyage, with the tense look-out for submarines, and of experiences after reaching Bordeaux. He stated that the dreadful sea-sickness is one of the annoyances with which the man who goes to France these days must combat, as the voyage is a long one. He also had much to say of the track race and athletic sports on ship-board. His next letter will be from Paris, but as each letter costs 25 cents, doubtless they will not be an everyday affair. His letter was not censored at all.

Miss Alice May George is a graduate of Dennison college, Granville, Ohio, this year.

The Bloomington Encampment.
Members of the various women's patriotic organizations affiliated with Post 20, G. A. R. are preparing to attend the state encampment at Bloomington June 6, 7 and 8. Mrs. Anna C. Reilein, state accountant for the Woman's Relief corps, will go to Bloomington Monday, others following Tuesday. Delegates from W. R. C. No. 10 are Mrs. Hattie Vaughn, Mrs. Robert Kapferer, Mrs. Mary Brita, Mrs. Elmina Stoop, Mrs. Fannie B. Henderson, Mrs. Emily Adams, Mrs. Redora Griffin, Mrs. Jennie Hartway, Mrs. James Ackley, Mrs. Marion Steinhilf, and Mrs. Adam Schoeberlein. Mrs. Frank Curran goes as musician. It is said that Mrs. Helen Middlekauff of Springfield is a 100 to 1 shot for the departmental president, as she is popular and has little or no opposition. Her husband is an appointee of Governor Lowden.

Mrs. Mabel Harding, senior vice president of the Daughters of Veterans seems to be slated for departmental president of the Daughters.

IN THE FIELD OF SPORTS

ROWLAND MUST WIN 1917 FLAG

Manager of White Sox Has One of Greatest Clubs in Game This Year.

PITCHERS ARE GOING WELL

If Clarence Rowland wishes to go down in baseball history as a "veteran manager" of the Chicago White Sox he will have to pilot the Sox to a pennant in the American league this year.

This is Rowland's third season at the helm of the south siders, and he is making a valiant bid for the championship with a team which, on paper, is without doubt one of the strongest in either big league.

Rowland came to the White Sox from the minors, a very rare occurrence in the history of big league managers, for as a rule the club owners do not go foraging in the minor leagues when they are summing up for a new manager. Because he came up from the rank and file Rowland was not received with any great eclat, even in Chicago. The baseball scribes had a "hunch" that he would never do and some of them were heard about expressing their views.

Rowland came to the White Sox with a strong desire to win, but last year he finished a strong second to the wonderful Red Sox, keeping his club in the race most of the way.

So far this season the White Sox have been strong contenders, tho, like the famous hitless wonders of other days, they have won a good many ball games on a very few base hits—thanks mostly to great pitching.

The work of Clifton, Benz, Scott, Russell and Faber has been the forte of the Sox this year; but unless the men of Rowland swing into a steady hitting stride and keep somewhere near the task that is ahead of the pitchers is going to be almost as big as all outdoors. Meanwhile, Rowland's job is to win a pennant.

Fielding Jones recently told the White Sox lacked staying qualities, or words to that effect. Because the Browns managed to battle the Sox to a standstill in early season games, Fielder thought he had the Sox buffaloed, or miffed as he did in the hope that he could effect the morale of the club. That the Sox stacked up as a stronger all-around club than the Browns is generally admitted without the thought of an argument. But that they have the stuff in them to head off Jack Barry's Bostonians is now an open question.

The great pitching staff of the Red Sox is still the same great pitching staff that it was in 1915 and 1916. Ruth Shore, Leonard, Mays and Foster appear to be capable of outpitching any five hurlers selected from any one American league club. So far this year they have managed to prove it, and if Boston is to be conceded this edge in pitching it will take a club with greater attacking power than the Red Sox and pitching almost as good to beat them to the wire.

Nearly every one figured prior to the opening of the season that the Boston club was due to crack. At the doghouse figure it, Boston was due. But Boston hasn't cracked yet. Those Red Sox are making Rowland's pathway awfully rough. So rough that unless he succeeds in beating them out of the race this season the public will get another vision of Comiskey in search of a manager.

JIM BAGBY SHUTS OUT THE BOSTON RED SOX 5-0

(The International News Service.) Boston, Mass., June 2.—Jim Bagby shut out Boston, 5 to 0, today. He allowed the Red Sox only three hits. Speaker's three hits, and errors by Lewis and Leonard gave Cleveland a safe lead early in the game. A long running catch of Walker's high fly by Graney was the fielding feature.

PAIGE

The Most Beautiful Car in America

THIS is the year of all years when it will pay you to place an order for your Paige, just as early as possible.

In the first place, there is every indication that the "sold out" condition of last year will be repeated.

Thousands of people have been watching the performance of this great car—studying the experience of owners—convincing themselves that Paige is actually first choice in the field of light sixes.

Then, too, you will undoubtedly be obliged to pay more for your Paige if you wait too long.

It is a matter of public knowledge that the costs of all manufacturing materials and labor have increased tremendously during the past year—and quotations are still climbing.

We have, of course, protected ourselves by early purchase. But our present supplies cannot last indefinitely and, in the face of a steadily advancing market, we shall be obliged to increase list prices proportionately.

So—for your own protection—now is the time to act. Don't wait until it is too late. Don't place yourself in a position where it will be necessary to compromise on a "second best."

See the Paige dealer today.

FISHERMEN TELL ON LAW BREAKERS

Help Deputy Game Warden to Prevent Robbing River of Its Game Fish.

Deputy Game Warden S. W. Brown is still hot on the trail of violators of the game and fish laws. He is investigating tips that may bring a number of arrests.

Thursday afternoon Walter Shackley was arrested by the deputy game warden and taken into the justice court of W. C. Heise. He was charged with fishing within 100 feet of a dam. Shackley was fined $25 and costs. The fine was remitted on payment of the costs, $9.50.

The deputy warden has received many complaints from fishermen who observe the laws and who want others to do the same. The officer wishes too to co-operate with those who obey the laws for the preservation of the game fish in the river.

They will. The river will be robbed of the game fish if some of the reported practices do not cease.

There have been complaints of men spearing and seining fish and even of the selling of black bass which have been seined in the river and creeks. These are violators of the game laws and punishable by heavy fines. It is expected that some of the seiners in the vicinity north of the Illinois avenue bridge will be taken soon.

SAVE BRITISH ARMEN

(By Associated Press Special Agent.) London, June 2.—The Daily Mail says that two British armen have been landed by a destroyer on the east coast after being rescued from their wrecked machine. They had been clinging to the wreckage for five days, and were nearly dead from lack of food and shelter.

The morning papers report that 713 airplanes were shot down on the western front in May of which 442 were German and 271 British and French. British headquarters admitted the loss of 84 machines but an American correspondent says that losses are impossible to verify the number that they lost.

It is worthy of note that the estimate of 271 is compiled from German official reports. The total air losses for April were estimated at 200.

GUNNERS BLAMELESS IN DEATH OF NURSES

(By Associated Press Special Agent.) Washington, June 2.—The senate naval committee today reviewed the navy department's report on the naval gun accident aboard the American armed merchantman, Mongolia, which cost the lives of two British nurses, and prepared to make a report of its own as ordered by the senate. The navy department's board of inquiry absolved from blame the naval crew which fired the Mongolia's gun in practice and attributed the accident to an unusual defect of a brass mouthpiece on the powder charges.

The main feature of the organization's platform is:

"The Federation of the Central Powers must not be put into practice by the partitioning of parliament."

Two hundred members of the reichstag are included in the 1,500 members of the new federation. Telegrams of greeting were sent to the German and Austrian emperors and their cabinets.

A letter from Mrs. Langworthy of the state organization, referred to the "The Patriotic Daughters of the American Flag" (is this new, or is it because the society reporter of The Beacon-News is asleep at the switch that this sounds like another one?). Plans were made for a meeting next Wednesday afternoon to organize a Red Cross Juvenile Auxiliary society, composed of sixth and seventh grade girls who will probably meet during the summer for work. Officers for the year were elected with Mrs. Frank Biever, president, Mrs. Harrison Condon vice president, Mrs. Galpin secretary and Mrs. P. G. Hartz treasurer. There was a social hour during which refreshments were served.

Mrs. Charles H. Talbot, president of the district, spoke for a time, as did Mrs. Frank Johnson, district chairman of the conservation committee. Mrs. D. J. Abrams, chairman of the music committee for the district, and Mrs. John J. Mason, state legislative chairman, were speakers. Mrs. Mary D. Bailey, deputy county recorder, gave several readings and Wake Up, Aurora! Buy Liberty Bonds!

If you value the privileges you have enjoyed as an American citizen—if you want to make certain that your children and future generations will enjoy the same privileges—you must do your share towards stemming the tide of oppression which threatens our shores.

Give YOUR Government YOUR Support!

Every citizen should make sacrifices in order to insure the immediate success of the "Liberty Loan of 1917." Place in the hands of our government at once the means of hurrying the day of Victory and Peace.

Our Government is offering a liberal return—3½ per cent interest—for your money—the safest investment for individuals, estates, business houses and public institutions. Help your Government and help yourself.

Danger of An Over-Subscription

If anyone fails to subscribe for the bonds at once, he may suddenly find that the subscription books have been closed earlier than the date specified, which would prevent them from obtaining any of the bonds. Furthermore, should peace be made before our country floats another loan an intending investor might never again be able in his lifetime to buy a U. S. bond to yield as attractive an income or rate of interest as the present issue affords. The price of peace will undoubtedly advance the value and return of these bonds which would mean that if you postpone action and then later should wish to acquire the bonds, you would be compelled to pay some earlier and original subscriber a premium price for any desired amount of bonds. Soon after the beginning of the Spanish-American war, our government offered for sale $200,000,000 3 per cent bonds, which were oversubscribed seven and one-half times. That was equivalent to subscriptions totaling about $1,500,000,000. Surely after witnessing the successful flotation recently of over a billion bonds of various foreign governments in this country, it is inconceivable that our people will not now be anxious to multiply manifoldly their subscriptions to this, their own country's Liberty Loan. If twenty years ago we subscribed for nearly $1,500,000,000 3 per cent bonds, we are today in a far better position and equipped with greater resources and wealth with which to make our people eager to demonstrate their patriotism. During this war Great Britain has already created two large loans of $5,000,000,000 each and for the last one subscriptions were received from about 8,000,000 different buyers. Can it be that we to a less degree love and appreciate our country? It is true that our Spanish War Loan was subscribed for by only 320,226 different buyers, but conditions were then materially different than those prevailing today, and the people of the United States have never failed in their support of their government. Unless all indications indicate the present issue of $2,000,000,000 bonds will not be sufficient to supply the demand. An over-subscription would mean that subscribers will receive smaller allotments of bonds than they applied for and many disappointed subscribers will likely endeavor to acquire at a later date some of the bonds by paying a price profit to the successful buyers in order to tempt them to surrender some of their holdings.

Go to a Bank or a Bond Broker Tomorrow!

You may make application for any amount of bonds, subscribing for amounts ranging from $50 to $1,000 or upward, all bearing the same rate of interest, 3½ per cent. Payment can be made in full or on the government installment plan. All Aurora Banks, members of the Aurora Clearing House Association, have also established Weekly Payment Liberty Loan Clubs for the benefit of those who wish to contribute their share in smaller weekly sums.

Let's have action now. The humblest wage earner must take at least one $50 bond. By delay you are doing your share to imperil the nation.

DECARBONIZING
METHODS GIVEN

Hand Scraping of the Incrustations Altogether the Surest Remedy.

OXYGEN METHOD IS FAIR

When an engine becomes carbonized to the point that premature ignition occurs, as evidenced by the occurrence of the "carbon knock," the deposits must be removed and the removal of the incrustations by hand scraping is altogether the surest method. Engines having detachable cylinder-heads, can be cleaned by scraping with greatest facility. Those that have not, often require extensive disassembling to enable a thorough scraping to be performed. Still, by the use of specially adapted scraping tools most engines having valve-openings of liberal diameter and cylinder-head plugs can be pretty well cleaned without their being taken apart. The oxygen method of burning out deposits is applicable to nearly all engines with cast-iron pistons and is fairly thorough in its results. When oxygen is applied until no further combustion can be obtained in any part of the combustion space it is reasonably certain that the cleaning is complete. This process requiring no disassembling of the engine and can be performed very cheaply if the owner can obtain the use of the necessary outfit, do the work himself and pay only for the oxygen used. In the use of liquid decarbonizers, the direct indication is given at the time of the effectiveness of the treatment, as is the case with hand scraping and the oxygen method. In order to be sure that there has been a completed, valve-cap or two should be removed before the application to examine the thickness of the deposit from the inside of the cap and on the adjacent parts of valve chambers should be noted. If, after the decarbonizer has been applied, these parts are found to be clean it is presumptive evidence that the piston heads and other not readily accessible surfaces are also free of deposits. Unless these precautions are taken it sometimes happens that engine examinations show the pistons cleaner to have had but little effect, the owner being in a state of mind to expect the best results, thinking that his engine is clean when it is not the case.

Hints for the Motorist

Feeding Oil With Gasoline.
B. J. M. writes: I have been told that by adding a small amount of cylinder oil to the gasoline in the tank the running of the engine could be improved, fuel saved and carbon deposits prevented. Is there any merit in this idea?

Answer: Oil, supplied in this manner is thoroughly distributed over all engine parts that are exposed to the entering charges and is constantly renewed so long as the engine is running and is therefore quite effective. In the case of an engine which is run quite hot and does heavy work, possibly on rather low flash-point oil, it may happen that rather a scanty oil supply is maintained upon the upper parts of the pistons by the crankcase splash. In such an engine oil, supplied as you suggest, may make up the lack and considerably reduce piston-friction as well as oiling the inlet-valves, reducing the wear of their stems and guides—perhaps quieting them and making them tighter. To whatever extent the method reduces friction, it saves fuel and in keeping the piston heads slightly oily it may prevent the hardening thereon of deposits. If you add one pint of strictly high flash-point cylinder oil to each five gallons of fuel you will be giving the method a fair test which can certainly result in no harm to your engine.

Oil-Proofing Rubber.
O. C. writes: My engine leaks oil, which is thrown out of the water-connections and the wiring, softening the rubber. Is there anything that I can put on these parts to protect them?

Answer: A coating of shellac will oil-proof rubber quite effectively, but you ought to find out where the oil leak is and try to stop it.

Drivers' Traffic Signals.
J. E. van H. writes: Kindly explain the various signals used by the auto driver.

Answer: We assume that you refer to traffic signals. These are usually somewhat as follows: When slowing up suddenly or about to stop, the driver raises his hand vertically. When about to make a turn, the driver extends his hand horizontally in the direction toward which the turn is to be made. When about to back the driver raises his hand. The stopping, and backing signal is not an effective one on the part of the driver of a closed car or one with the top up, as drivers of vehicles to his rear have difficulty in seeing it. The turning signal is effective as regards drivers of vehicles proceeding in the opposite direction, but as the driver's arm can be visibly extended in but one direction (assuming a closed car) it is only partially effective as regards following traffic, the direction of the turning not being indicated. This has led to the use of the horizontally extended arm to denote a turn, but without any significance as to direction.

Defining "Heat Treatment."
A. J. McQ. asks: What is the meaning of the term "heat treatment," which I meet with so frequently in motor car literature?

Answer: Heat treatment includes all the processes which employ heat for the altering of the qualities of metals and is the modern equivalent for such well-known terms as tempering and annealing. By heating

CAR DELIVERED TO GEN. SCOTT—
GEN. WOOD USES SAME MAKE.

Major Gen. Hugh L. Scott, chief-of-staff of the United States army, and Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, commander of the newly created department of the southeast, are two notable who have been recently added to the list of Cadillac Eight owners.

General Scott has been temporarily detached from army duty to serve as a member of President Wilson's special commission to Russia. General Wood, one of the foremost advocates for national preparedness, is at Charleston, S. C.

A third prominent person to whom a Cadillac Eight has recently been delivered is James Couzens, millionaire police commissioner of Detroit, former general manager of the Ford Motor company.

BONDS FOR AUTOS IS GOOD BUSINESS

More Companies Expected to Take Securities as Cash in Payment for Machines.

Announcement of several automobile companies that they will accept liberty bonds in payment for cars created a mild sensation in automobile circles.

"The automobile dealer who offers to accept liberty bonds in payment for his cars, at par or slightly above par, is doing good business," the president of one big company said. "He knows the bonds are as good as cash and he makes no sacrifice and has nothing to lose in offering to hypothecate them. In taking our step we are plainly as possible that we not only urge the purchase of bonds, but are willing to tangibly assist in purchasing them. The man who wants to buy a motor car, but feels the government is entitled to the use of his money, may now buy his liberty bond and we will shoulder the purchase and help him pay for them to the extent of 10 per cent. Thus the patriotic citizen has his automobile, the government has the use of his money and we will have cheerfully borne a slight loss in promoting the sale of bonds."

Action by other automobile companies is expected within a few days, and it is thought that the sale of liberty bonds will be given a decided impetus by the movement.

Steel to certain temperatures, for prescribed lengths of time, under definite conditions and then cooling in certain ways, in certain liquids, resulting in increases in strength, hardness, elasticity and other qualities can be effective. These processes, applied appropriately to the different steel parts of a motor car, can be made to give such parts, respectively, the properties which they are required to possess in order to prove most serviceable. Most car parts are machined to their correct sizes and shapes, while the steel is soft and readily workable and are then heat-treated to give them the required strength, hardness and elasticity.

CADILLAC ROADABILITY

THE Eight-Cylinder Cadillac removes the strain and weariness from long distance driving. If ever a motor car was at once both stimulating and soothing that car is the Cadillac "Eight."

All the glorious tingle of a noiseless flight thru space is in the Cadillac "Eight." But the strain is gone—gone and forgotten—because the flow of power is so continuous, so smooth, so flexible and so quiet that you are scarcely conscious that the engine exists.

Heretofore, no matter how gallantly your car mounted a hill, you were conscious every moment that it was climbing—that it was laboring. Now you know that the hill was high only because you saw it before the mount began—or looked back after the crest was reached. You travel almost continuously on high gear—under throttle control.

There are a few more Cadillac Cars available for delivery. See the new models now on display.

Ross McDowell Salesroom and Garage Locates in the Old
Downer Place Garage.

The first floor of the old Downer place garage, recently occupied by the Lumb Motor Truck Co., has been renovated and equipped and is being operated as an up-to-date sales-service station and garage for all kinds of motor vehicles. The new establishment has been opened by Ross McDowell. The Lumb Motor Truck Co. have fitted up a suite of offices on the second floor which is also occupied by their factory.

Mr. McDowell will specialize in the sale and maintenance of Saxon, Chalmers and Premier cars and will display them in the sales window on the Lake street front but will have his general offices in the Downer Place wing of the big building.

Mr. McDowell says he likes Aurora better every day. He moved his household here from Chicago about four months ago. He was in the automobile business in Chicago for four years. He is a member of the Aurora Automobile club and is taking an active interest in the movement for an association among the motor car dealers in Aurora.

"The unusually backward spring has, of course, affected the automobile business," Mr. McDowell said yesterday, "but after the hot summer weather sets in I fully expect to see all automobile dealers doing the biggest business they have ever done and I intend to seek my share of it."

There is every reason to expect the new enterprise to be a success.

SPRINGFIELD KIDNAPING
MYSTERY IS UNSOLVED

(By Associated Press Staff Wire)
Springfield, Mo., June 2.—Another night of anxious waiting for an expected mysterious telephone call or message that would tell him where to meet the kidnapers of his 12-month-old son, Lloyd, passed without any new word to J. H. Keel, wealthy retired banker of Springfield. Far into the small hours of the morning he maintained a vigil at his home, ready to go to any point that might be named to exchange a sum of money for the return of the infant kidnaped Wednesday night while his parents attended a dance at the nearby country club.

The plan of the university is to make Chicago a medical center equalled by none elsewhere according to Doctor Judson.

FAIL TO OBSERVE
CARBON DEPOSITS

Motorists Overlook Settling in Combustion Spaces Until Necessity Forces Notice.

Just a Little Bit of Care All That Is Required to Defeat Accumulation of Deposits.

Such a large part of all the communications this service receives relate to carbon deposits and methods for their removal as to make it plain that this is a "burning question" among motorists. Such deposits in the combustion spaces of motors begin actively harmful when they become sufficient to cause preignition of the fuel charges, due to overheated masses in the clearance spaces as when this condition is reached the full power of the engine cannot be utilized because, on widely opened throttle, back work is done on the pistons by the premature explosions, as evidenced by knocking. As with all other abnormal conditions, prevention is of primary importance as deferring the necessity of administering a cure, but it is to be feared that the average motorist neglects preventative measures and gives his attention too much to removing deposits, the accumulation of which could be greatly deferred by the exercise of a little care.

It was at one time believed that the decomposition of cylinder oil in use in combustion spaces was the main cause of deposits, but the evil is now being attributed more to the incomplete combustion of the fuel charges, which is aggravated by the low volatility of present-day gasoline. On this theory the most important preventive measure is the securing of an complete combustion as possible. An over-rich mixture cannot be completely burned and the excess of fuel is partly deposited as lampblack. Therefore, the leanest mixture, compatible with successful operation, should invariably be used. This makes imperative the use of a mixture control, adapted to give an excess of gasoline at starting and for low speed running and a street or racing slightly under supply can regulate maximum power production for general use. A certain amount of hand control of the mixture seems hardly to be avoided under present conditions.

When the leanest of the hand-controlled mixture is used, a mixture that is absolutely known to be not in the slightest degree over-rich, even when the whole power plant is warmed up to its highest safe temperature, this is perhaps the most important point in carbon prevention.

Delaying Carbon Accumulation.
In nearly all cases, carbon is in a vaporized condition and mixed with air at the instant of ignition, that actually enters the mixture and takes part in the combustion. Fuel which is in an unvaporized or a coarsely subdivided condition at the time it is burnt imperfectly and there is a tendency toward its decomposition into carbonaceous compounds, which are being become attached to the combustion chamber walls. In order to avoid carbonization from this cause, the mixture as it enters the cylinder should be as thoroughly vaporized as dry as possible. In order to accomplish this adequate heat must be applied to all exposed parts of the intake piping, the water-jacket should be kept as hot as practicable and the air supplied the carburetor may have to be heated. If not already installed upon a car, devices for controlling water temperature, exhaust heated manifolds and hot-air collectors or "stoves" can be obtained and attached. There is, of course, a limit to the heating of the charge beyond which there is a loss in maximum power, but this is not likely to be much exceeded. If oil reaches the piston top and cylinder-head walls, it may be decomposed into adherent carbonaceous incrustations, by the intense heat, and probably the presence of sticky, oily matter encouraged the collection and condensation of carbon particles from over-rich charges and the residue from "wet" explosions thus helping to build up deposits. The remedy for this is to keep oil from getting above the pistons and well-fitted rings, effective oil grooves with oil escape holes, the use of the right quantity and quality of oil and its proper distribution by the moving parts all conduce to this end. Briefly then, to delay the formation of deposits, one should use a mixture leaner, if any, than that giving the maximum power, as much of the time as practicable should use a carburetor giving a fine spray should employ such heating arrangements as will conduce to a "dry" mixture being supplied the cylinder and avoid the presence of oil above the pistons.

FORBID CAKE AND CANDY
IN FT. SHERIDAN CAMP

(By Associated Press Staff Wire)
Fort Sheridan, Ill., June 2.—Eating of cake and candy was forbidden in the barracks of one of the companies at the coast-guard training camp here today, and it was asserted that the orders, which will be posted in all of the company barracks, it was asserted that members of the unit have not been hardening under the physical training rapidly as possible because of candy, candy and soda after consumed between meals. The food was to be in the open, others it was said have been overeating at meal times. The latter practice, however, is automatically fighting itself. Quartermaster statistics at the post show that the government has purchased $15,000 worth of food for the candidates at Fort Sheridan in the last 15 days, including 112,000 pounds of potatoes.

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

If You Want To Own a Ford
This Season, Better Buy
It Now—

—"Nic" Williams

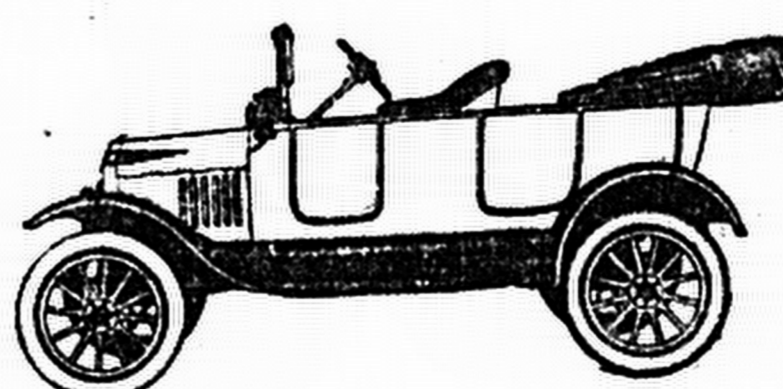

The whole Ford situation, summed up in a nutshell, is this: The supply is limited, regardless of the fact that all Ford factories are working day and night and the capacity this season has been materially increased.

In plain English, there is going to be a scarcity of Fords, and a whole lot of prospective buyers are going to get left unless there is quick action. You know the car—the world knows its value and its performances. What the Ford has done for thousands of others it will do equally as well in your hands.

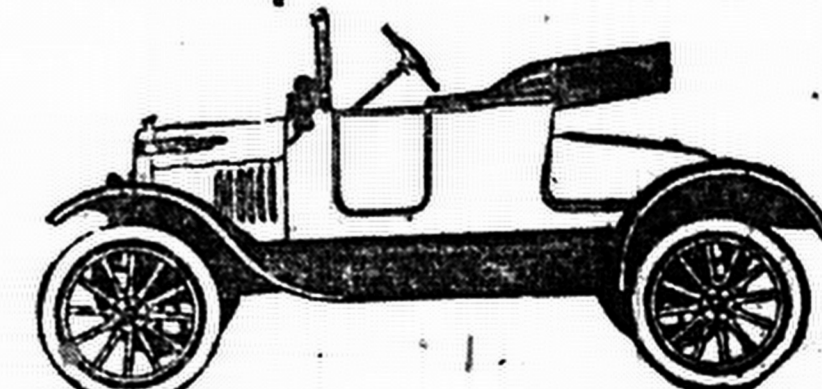

No other car can touch the Ford for durability and low upkeep—this is common knowledge. But the best way to know the Ford is to own one yourself—sit in the seat and drive it—get on "speaking terms" with the wonderful little motor and let it pull you over the roads and life's "rough places", for pleasure, or in commercial use, by the silent manipulation of the spontaneous throttle on the steering wheel.

Again, we repeat: Buy your Ford now if you want one.

In the Automobile World

SHOWS WAR AS BUSINESS AID

AM of $7,000,000,000 Voted to Be Spent Here,
Says Willlys.

OUR CASE LIKE CANADA'S

John N. Willlys predicts that the entry of the United States into the great war will bring to this country big business prosperity.

Mr. Willlys is president of the Willlys-Overland company, of Toledo, O., second largest automobile factory in the world, which is expected to produce nearly 200,000 motor cars this year.

"Automobile manufacturers throughout the country," he says, "are being deluged by letters, telegrams and verbally with queries as to what effect America's declaration of a state of war existing with Germany will have on business generally, and particularly on the automobile industry."

"It seems to me that the unprecedented era of prosperity of the past two years must be continued."

"In addition to the enormous business now being handled by this country, the United States government has just passed a war budget of seven billion dollars. Three billion dollars of this fund will be advanced as a loan to the allies, who will spend it in the United States."

"The remaining four billion dollars will be used to put our own army and navy on a sound war footing."

"Every cent of this money will be spent in this country. Every product that is purchased in larger quantities than ever, every section of the country will benefit every class of people."

"Some of the money will go to buy cotton to the western states and to the coast for grain, meat and other food stuffs. Some will go to the Pennsylvania steel mills, New York and will get a share in exchange for shoes. The balance of the national states will get a share. There will be more money in circulation than ever before."

"In Canada, in spite of the handicap of the war, business is booming. They have since January 1 booked more retail orders than the total Overland sales in Canada for any previous twelve months. The demand in the Dominion for Willlys-Overland cars is far in excess of the supply."

"Prior to the war in Canada, money was very tight. The per capita wealth across the border was only $55. At the present time Canada is in better shape financially than ever before. Its per capita wealth is now $122."

"The United States today has more money than ever in its history. A recent statement published by the Comptroller, Williams showed that United States banks had over sixteen billion dollars in deposits. In two hundred and ten million dollars the previous high water mark of five months ago, and an increase of one billion dollars in four months. The total national wealth according to authoritative estimates, is now $220,000,000,000, with a national debt of only $1,000,000,000. The combined wealth of Great Britain, France, Russia, Italy and Germany is $275,000,000,000, while their total national debt is $40,000,000,000."

"There seems to be no cause for pessimism. We can safely look forward to a continuance of good business right here in our own country."

If Too Fat Get
More Fresh Air

Eat All You Need, Including Candy. Reduce Your Weight. Here's the Secret.

Lack of fresh air, it is said, weakens the oxygen-carrying power of the blood, the liver becomes sluggish, fat accumulates and the action of many of the vital organs is hindered thereby. The heart action becomes weak, work is an effort and the beauty of the figure is destroyed.

Fat put on by indoor life is unhealthy, and if nature is not assisted in throwing it off a serious case of obesity may result.

When you feel that you are getting too stout take the matter in hand at once. Don't wait until your figure has become a joke and your health ruined through carrying around a burden of unhealthful and unhealthy fat.

Spend some time daily in the open air; breathe deeply and get from any druggist a small box of oil of Eucalyptus; take one after each meal and one before retiring at night. Also follow the simple directions that come with the box.

A testing supply of oil of eucalyptus, with interesting book, will be mailed free (in plain envelope) if you write to Eucalyptus Company, N. Y., East 25th St., 234 T, New York, N. Y. Weigh yourself every few days and keep up the treatment until you are down to normal. Oil of eucalyptus is absolutely harmless, is pleasant to take, and helps the digestion.

To those who realize that over-stressfulness imperils health in numerous ways, in addition to constant mental and physical discomfort, this suggestion to try a simple, harmless, reliable means of probably speedy relief should be most welcome.

Auto Notes

The Transmission Brake.
D. J. McD. writes I notice that in several of the new models, both brakes are not on the rear wheels but one of them works on the transmission. What are the advantages of this arrangement?

Answer: Among the advantages claimed are the following: Since the transmission shaft, to which the brake is applied, runs about four times as fast as the rear axle, only about one-quarter the pressure is required with a transmission brake to give the same effect as with a pair of wheel brakes, drum sizes being the same. This permits of a lighter, more easily operated brake being used—one having a shorter operating mechanism which does not move and possibly rattle with the axle. Removing one pair of brakes from the axle slightly reduces its dead weight. The transmission brake is located where road dirt and water cannot reach it, whereas the external wheel brakes are affected by mud, water and ice. With only one set of brakes on the wheels the cooling of the drums is easier than with two sets acting upon them.

Tire Treads Loosen.
D. L. B. writes: The chief trouble which I have with tires is that of the treads loosening and peeling off. I hardly ever have a blow-out except on a tire which has lost its tread and then wears thru the canvas. Why should I have all this tread trouble?

Answer: Possibly you are using a make of tire which possesses the weak point of faulty tread application, but it may also be that you do not take care of your tires in such a way as prevent tread separation. Unless you promptly repair all cuts which extend thru the tread rubber, there is a tendency for road dirt to work in under the tread and gradually to loosen it. If there are many such unhealed cuts, the loosened portions will meet and the tread will be in loose, loose areas and finally will break away and expose the canvas. These tread cuts should either be vulcanized or repaired with cement and plastic rubber as soon as they occur.

More kindness has never yet won a woman's heart.

American Make Superior in Quality, Expert Back From Trenches Says.

FOR ARMY TRANSPORT USE

New York, June 2.—Automobile circles will be interested to hear that Ralph Estep is back from the trenches and what his plans are to "do his bit" for the United States. Than Estep few men are better known in the motor world. As editor of Motor Age, as manager of a big automobile company advertising and as a permanent member of a well known New York agency, few men have been more in touch with motorists all over the country.

Estep spent some time in the fall of 1915 at the French front and learned a good deal about war motor transport there. He has just returned from the Balkans, via Italy and France. In the Balkans he lived for months at the front and got to bedrock on procedure in the French, Serbian, Italian and Russian armies. That country being rough and roadless, he learned a whole lot about hauling army supplies under difficult conditions.

He says he learned that American trucks have the better quality, but the American type of design is wrong. The Italians have the most efficient system, he found.

Mr. Estep knows and understands the details of organizing a proper motor transport unit from the ships to the soldiers.

It is the intention of Mr. Estep to get in touch with the truck makers of America at the earliest possible opportunity. With his experience abroad he probably knows as much about war trucks as any man in the United States. He says he wants to join some truck builder and put out some real army stuff in the truck line.

JAPAN WATCHES U. S. WAR
PLANS WITH INTEREST

(By Associated Press Licensed Wire.)
Tokio, June 2.—The enthusiasm with which the United States is preparing for active participation in the European war is attracting keen attention in Japan. America's decision to send the Root mission to Russia is also causing much interest and speculation and several newspapers have criticized their own government for indifference towards the situation in Russia, and suggest Japan should dispatch an envoy to offer all assistance that may be necessary.

The American military measures are commented upon at length by the semi-official Japanese Times which says: "If the great war now raging has taught anything, it has convinced the world that a country with a permanent army can never be anything but a temptation to an unscrupulous and aggressive foe."

"There was a time when a word from an American general or admiral or publicist calling for augmented armament set many people by the ears."

"Happily, the American army and navy expansionist no longer finds any need for falling back on the Japanese invasion legend, while we on our part can, with perfect equanimity, indeed with genuine sympathy, look upon the frenzied effort to amplify the defense of America. Japan can add new forces to her navy without exciting suspicions in America. Both America and Japan should thank Germany for this. We only voice the sentiment of all well informed Japanese when we say we wish goodspeed to American preparedness as long as the war lasts, assured that we shall find in strong America after the war a well contented America that can be more trusted and fraternized with than ever."

FOR THE YOUNG PEOPLE

DECORATION DAY

"The muffled drum's sad roll has beat:
The soldier's last tattoo;
No more on life's parade shall meet
The brave and fallen few."
—O'HARA.

THE observance of Memorial Day has grown out of the tender remembrances of mothers, and sisters, and sweethearts, and all the noble survivors of the Civil War. The practice of setting aside a day to visit the graves of loved ones, and to recall their noble deeds, by strewing their resting places with flowers and plants, began in the early part of the War. It was first observed in a village here and a town there, until the practice began to grow more general. In some cases, Governors recommended a certain day, but there was no wide extended agreement as to one day. In time, many State Legislatures were induced to make a given day a holiday for this purpose, and still later the President recommended the observance of one day throughout the country.

However, there are quite a few States who do not yet have their Memorial Day on the 30th of May. These are Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina and Texas. But the 30th of May is celebrated in the District of Columbia, Porto Rico and Alaska, and in all other of the United States.

One of Napoleon's generals in talking to the great conqueror said: "Bah! I'm surprised to hear you say that, for that is sentiment!"

"Sentiment," came the quick reply, "then it concerns what most enriches life!"

Enrich your life by flinging the Stars and Stripes to the winds next Wednesday, the thirtieth. Memorial Day has been set aside by the United States Government, and it is the duty of every American boy and girl to observe it.

What is more glorious than our flag?

The Red stands for valor and zeal and vigilance.—Liberty.

The White stands for purity, virtue, nobleness.—Peace.

The Blue stands for loyalty, truth and protection.—Justice.

The Stripes stand for the Thirteen original States.

The Stars stand for Hope, Aspiration, Equality, Unity. The brotherhood of man and the sisterhood of States.

Think of all this next Wednesday, and see to it that a flag waves from your home.

They Clip Their Syllables

BUT the American does love to respectively, and then the elevator boy spoke to the remaining passenger. "What's yours?" he asked. "Nineteen," returned that gentleman. "Great Smoke, it has been so long since I've heard a 'teen, that I hardly understand what you mean," said the boy, meaning of course the thirteenth.

When he had been left at that floor the bearded man grunted out "five," and the chap next him said hurriedly "seven."

So they were deposited at the fifteenth and seventeenth floors, respectively.

THE LITTLE DRUMMER BOY

SAMMY was polishing and polishing the old drum until its nickel trimmings fairly shone. Tillie was at the window holding up a little tinny picture in its plush-lined case, and saying: "Oh, I can see you right plain now, Grandpa!" Little Peter was sitting on Grandpa's knee and looking rather solemn for a person of his age. The Great Day had come!

Decorated Day! Grandpa, who had been the Drummer Boy of his Regiment, was dressed in his faded blue uniform, and his eyes had a far-away look in them, as if he were thinking of other days when he was the jolly, young drummer boy who looked out so bravely from Tillie's tinny drum. Grandpa was in the pantry helping to Mrs. Browning's. You mustn't Mother to put up a good lunch, for they were going to picnic after the Parade and visit to the Cemetery. Father was out in the garage getting

Then All Of A Sudden She Heard A Rat-A-Tat-Tat!

The long hand's pointing to 10!"

"I know, darling, but you can take the short cut across the field," replied Mother. "It won't take more than five minutes. Hurry along now!"

"But cows!" cried Tillie. "Cows! There are always cows in that field!"

"Oh, shame on you!" cried Grandpa, from the pantry. "To think of the granddaughter of a G. A. R. soldier afraid of cows!"

"She isn't afraid really, is she?" said Mother, giving Tillie a kiss. "Run along now!"

Tillie got Peter and started off as fast as she could. Peter was dressed in his Indian suit, which was the nearest thing he had to a uniform, and he carried his little drum and sticks, while Tillie carried an American flag.

"O-o-o, look!" cried Tillie, when they reached the field.

There were five big cows in the field, two lying down and three standing up, and one of them said: "Moo-o-o-o!" when she saw the children.

"What shall we do?" cried Tillie, not that she expected any answer from little Peter, but just to relieve her feelings. "I'm ashamed to go back and have them to go 'round by the road."

"Let's get Chuckle, he'll scare the cows away," said Peter.

"But then he'll be unchained and follow us all the way, and Daddy says he's to stay home 'cause he's a nuisance," replied Tillie. "You know how he likes to follow and bark at every thing."

"Do you think these cows would hook us?" asked the little fellow. "Maybe they're kind cows."

"Yes, and maybe they aren't!" replied Tillie. "Course I'm not 'tactly 'frail, you see, but I—I—just don't want to be hooked 'cause Mrs. Browning is waiting, and if we didn't come she might be disappointed. I—I'm not 'frail, you know!"

"Was it cows that tossed the old woman ninety times high as the moon?" asked Peter.

"No, a blanket," explained Tillie. "Or, I s'pose, people holding the blanket did it. Oh, but I'm 'frail we're keeping Mrs. Browning waiting and we'll miss the Parade!"

"Let's go home," said Peter.

"No," cried Tillie. "What would they think of us running home afraid of cows, when Grandpa was so brave and true? He didn't mind how many bullets flew around, he just marched right into the thickest of the fight and beat his drum so bravely, the soldiers ran right on toward victory. Oh, I wish a man would come along and help us across!"

She looked back along the road and no one did she spy, and then all of a sudden she heard a rat-a-tat-tat: rat-a-tat-tat! and turning around quick what did she see but Peter marching along right in the field with the cows, beating his little drum and holding his head high!

LOTS OF FUN—

DON'T YOU THINK SO?

"Oh!" she cried, running after him. "Wait, Peter, wait!"

"On to victory!" cried little Peter, beating his drum merrily.

Cows are the most curious of creatures, you know, and they wondered what on earth this procession was, so they began to follow along behind Tillie, not meaning any harm at all. But Tillie was awfully scared. She suddenly remembered that she had heard once that cows did not like red—they chased anything with red on it, and she was carrying the flag with its red stripes! Dear, dear, dear! Should she throw away her country's flag? The flag her Grandfather had followed in battle! Suppose she was booked by one of the cows and went sailing off ninety times high as the moon! Rat-a-tat-tat! went Peter's little drum, and all of a sudden Tillie felt more than ever ashamed of being a coward. She waved her flag on high and felt like a soldier brave.

"The Star-Spangled Banner, oh, long may it wave, O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave!"

she sang, and then she said: "Peter, I'm not really 'frail of cows, you know!"

Well, maybe she wasn't really afraid of cows, but any way she was mighty glad to get over safely to the other side of the field. She and Peter crawled under the fence, and left the cows standing and chewing their cud thoughtfully and no doubt thinking to themselves that human folk were certainly mighty queer.

There in the back yard stood the Browning's auto, with Mrs. Browning and her little girl, Grace, tramping it with little American flags.

"Just in time!" exclaimed Mrs. Browning when she saw the children. "Hop in quick!"

Mr. Browning let Peter sit beside him in the front seat, and Tillie sat between Mrs. Browning and Grace in the back seat, and she told them her adventure with the cows.

"Such a day they had!" There was the Parade first. The band playing, such stirring airs came first, then the veterans, some of who were too old and feeble to walk, riding in autos all decorated with flags, but most of them marching along bravely. There was Grandfather, of course, with Sammy waving proudly in front of him holding the drum, then came the Sheriff and the Mayor and a lot of soldiers in khaki riding out so fine and brave, then came a lot of autos and buggies and carriages and wagons. Tillie's father and mother waved from their car and joined in the procession, then Mr. Browning swung his machine in too.

"I'm gonna be a soldier too when I grow up," said Peter. And Tillie said: "Oh Peter, you'll make a fine soldier! Why, I'm proud of you now!"

Spelling Down Grandfather

GRANDFATHER peered over his glasses at his two grandchildren, Teddy and Alice.

"They have no spellers today like they used to have," said Grandfather.

He had often before said the same thing, so often, indeed, that his grandchildren were eager to put him to the test, and now the opportunity was at hand for a friendly contest. But they concealed the news they had in mind until they might first draw him out again as to his claims.

"You were a pretty good speller in your day, were you not, Grandfather?" it was Teddy who spoke.

"Why, Teddy," answered Grandfather, "I could spell through the old blue back speller from a, b, ab, to incomprehensibility, without anybody giving out, and never miss a word of a letter."

He beamed on the children. It delighted him to excite their wonder and admiration. But this time, apparently, the children were not much impressed. Alice meekly asked:

"Grandfather, what is a, b, ab?"

"What is—what do you mean, Alice?"

"What does it mean?"

"Why, I don't know that I can tell. But it's in the book, I can show you."

"Never mind, Grandfather," Teddy hastened to reply. "We know it's in the book."

"We are going to have a spelling school, Grandfather, and the eighth grade challenges the high school and all the old spellers in town. Come out and see how boys and girls of today can spell!"

Grandfather's jaw dropped. He looked at the children in amazement for a moment. Then a broad smile overspread his countenance.

"I like your nerve," he said. "Your Grandfather will be ready and teach you how to spell."

For two weeks everybody studied spelling. Grandfather might have been seen many times "brushing up" on the old Elementary speller. All over town the elderly people were preparing to stand up against their own children and grandchildren. And town people, but also many from the country and even business men who happened to be in town from other cities. Lawyers, doctors, editors, preachers, laborers, mechanics, and above all others, housewives, participated in the contest. They were permitted to "choose up" and great was the surprise of many at hearing some of the words but little known in the town who were the first to be chosen. Two head spellers, Grandfather was among the first chosen.

When they stood up to spell, under direction of the old-time teacher, who they in the eighth grade were studying. Only those in the high school regarded the contest with disdain, feeling their usual contempt for the sub-freshmen. As the day of the contest approached one of the store windows was given over to a display of the various prizes to be offered to the best spellers—first and second to the eighth graders, first and second to the high school, first and second to the old people, beside the grand prizes for the victors over all. One entire day was to be given over to the spelling contests, and it was advertised like a show, Teddy said. In the forenoon three separate contests were arranged, in which eighth graders were to compete only with eighth graders, high school pupils with high school pupils and old folks with old folks, the purpose being to select ten from each of these grades to enter the final contest in the afternoon. The contests between the school children in the morning attracted but little attention; but Grandfather was pleased to find that Alice was among the ten selected to represent the eighth graders. The old folks' spelling school on the other hand, had attracted not only

Number one pronounced the first word, spelled it syllable by syllable, and at the close pronounced the word again. Number two caught up the second word and spelled it. The third word, without being announced, was quickly spelled back on the first side. Now and then someone hesitated over the next word. On the opposite side of the house the opponent took it up and they who (tuned) went down. By the close of the second round half the contestants were seated. Then in dreary monotone they spelled around twice and no one fell.

"Words of three syllables with like sound but different meanings," announced the old teacher.

Again the contestants fell to work. Again their numbers were thinned. Less than a third the original number was standing. The old teacher turned to the back of the book.

"Words of four and more syllables," he announced.

Then it was that Grandfather got down to business. They said he spelled like a saw going through a log.

"Incomprehensibility, i-n, i-n, c-o-m, com, in-com, p-r-e, pre, in-compre, h-e-n, hen, in-comprehen, s-i, si, in-comprehens, b-i-l, bil, in-comprehensibil, l, i, in-comprehensibili, t-y, ty, in-comprehensibility."

"When only ten were left standing they wrote down their names as contestants for the final prizes. Then the old teacher laid down the blue backed speller and took up several other books. It was a signal that he might now pronounce words from any source. Grandfather took a grip on himself. He passed through all the test words without a slip. But all others had gone except Mrs. Sayman, wife of the town drayman. They stood and spelled without a miss for five full minutes. Then Grandfather missed and in a flash Mrs. Sayman was pronounced the champion of the old people of the town. The great audience cheered. It was the event of a lifetime to her. Later on Teddy told Grandfather he missed the word on purpose so as to give the old lady a chance. Grandfather smiled. "She or I was always at the head of the class," he said.

In the final contest they met, ten from each of the grades. There was

THE FIRST MESSAGE.

IN 1844 on the 27th of May Morse, the great inventor, had set apart the day—

Across the new stretched wires that reached to Washington, There traveled words that all may learn—new wonders had been done. From Baltimore to Washington the first great words were sent.

Where waiting at the instrument stood Tyler, President. And as he heard, he spoke the words the wires to him had brought, The message of the telegraph—"What hath God wrought!"

no choosing up now. There was no confining words to the blue back speller, or any other book. New and unusual words were fired at the contestants as though from guns. They even took names of places, appearing much in the war news. These wrought terrible havoc in the lines. Within a few moments half the spellers were down. Five minutes later only four stood up. Grandfather was one of these and Alice another. The old man looked at the little child with genuine admiration. If he must be spelled down he would rather it would be by her than any one else.

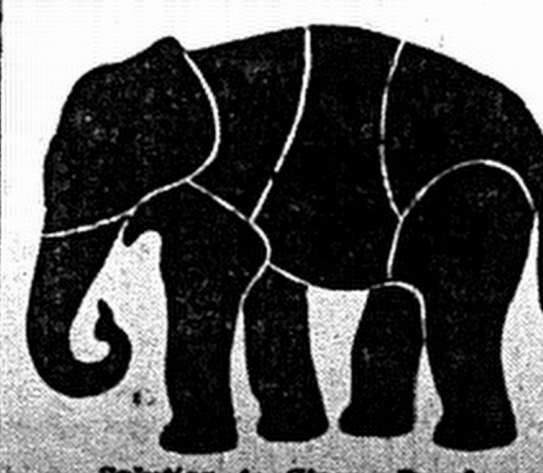

One of the four went down on amphetamine. A second succumbed to carburetor. Only Grandfather and Alice were standing now.

"Hydro-aeroplane," called the teacher.

Grandfather straightened "H-y-d-r-o-a-e-r-o-p-l-a-n-e," corrected the little girl.

"Right, Alice Grayson is the winner of the match."

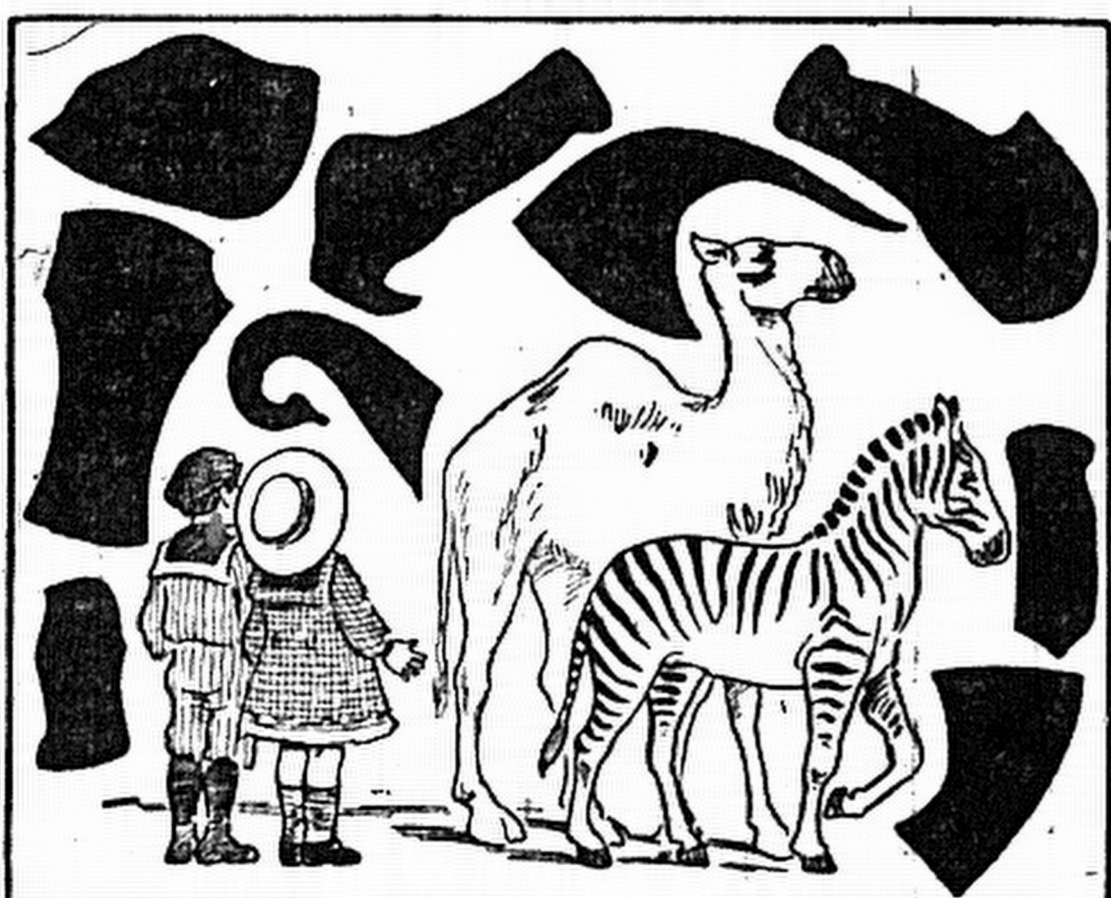

Grandfather hobbled over to the

EAST END FARMERS WILL DRAIN LAND

Thousands of Dollars to Be Added to Value of Kane and DuPage County Property.

New Drainage District Along County Line Asked—Cost Will Be $12,000 for Four Miles.

One thousand acres of fertile soil on 19 farms in Kane and DuPage counties, now valueless for farm production, will be reclaimed and made worth at least $360 an acre, it is claimed, at a cost of about $12,000 with construction of a drainage ditch four miles long.

The land lies in Aurora township of Kane county, and in Naperville township of DuPage county. The land owners who signed the petition for the drainage district are: Elizabeth Solisburg, Peter Haag, Hugo Miller, William W. Ferry, E. W. Vaughan, Jacob Walser, Frank C. Burton, Fred Vols, George Hoffmann and N. E. Vermees. There are others for the improvement and their names were necessary to get the petition filed.

The matter is being handled by Attorneys John M. Raymond and John Newhall for the petitioners and a board of commissioners. Under the farm drainage law the clerk of the town where a majority of the land owners have their property is empowered to name a commission. Town Clerk Frank Grossman has named Highway Commissioners Konan and Beckinger of Aurora and John Schelling of Naperville. The special assessment will be spread and the finding of the commissioners will be final.

Means Rich Farm Land. The water from the 1,000 acres to be reclaimed will be drained into Waubesa slough. Attorney John M. Raymond said late yesterday: "The 1,000 acres will be worth at least $360 an acre after they are drained because of the fertility of the soil. It will be new soil with much life, and rich because of the seedlings of years rotting on the land."

Attorneys Raymond & Newhall have handled the legal end for establishing 14 big drainage districts in recent years and everyone was completed, which is a great record.

Attorney Raymond said that Miss Mary Segers, clerk in his office, is one of the most expert persons he knows on drainage district law. The plan to drain the farm east of Aurora has been a dream for years of Hugo Miller.

Movie Notes

THRU A STUDIO. See that limousine body mounted upon wooden rockers. Well, that's the device used when it is desired to take a closeup of people riding in an automobile. The rockers joggle 'em just like riding in a real car.

"I'm on over to the art shop. See that girl in the white smock reclining on the couch. Mumps? No. That cloth around her face is to hold the plaster of paris in place. That's vaseline on her face to keep the plaster from sticking. The rubber tubes in her nostrils are essential to her breathing. The girl is Corene Grant. The artist, William Dummer. He is pouring the plaster over her face with a big spoon. Just like pouring cake batter into a pan. The cast will be set in three minutes. Easy—what? From the cast he'll make a mask to be used in Balboa's newest serial, "The Twisted Thread."

This is the prop room. There are more than 200 clocks in that bunch—all kinds. That spinning wheel is 300 years old. That is a bride decorated with Indian scalps, and that long black thing is a life-sized coffin. Yes, we use 'em all.

This is the woodworking shop. Sure, we make all our ornamental stuff such as stairways, balustrades, grilles, balconies, jalouses, etc.

Looks like a wallpaper store? This stock is big enough for a town of 10,000 people. We keep all grades of paper for use in decorating our interior sets.

Read books? Sure, ma'am. There are nearly 10,000 in that bunch. Take a closeup. There's "Moshem's Ecclesiastical History," "Scott's Bible," "Plutarch's Lives," the works of William Shakespeare, "Gibbon's Rome," etc. Not a phonny in the bunch.

That little black dog is "Chubbe," the playmate of "Little Mary Sunshine."

Here are a few of the dressing rooms. Each one is as comfortable a little nest as anyone could desire. Easy chairs, couch, dressing table, closet. All the comforts of home, and light and airy.

In this warehouse there are ten carloads of furniture only. Balboa does his own upholstering and can match any set.

Those long strips of white muslin stretched along on wires above the stage are called diffusers. Their office is to keep direct rays of the sun from the sets.

Those men carrying that big thing that looks like the side of a room are going to build a set for a drawing room. There will be 22 of those sections in it, but when it is set up and photographed it will look like an unbroken wall.

See that little golden-top girl over there sitting at the school desk? Note that the camera is close up to her face. The girl is Jackie Saunders; the director is Sherwood MacDonald. He is taking a closeup of her registering confusion and embarrassment. It's trying on all of them—some of these closeups.

The little girl playing with the puppy is Gloria-Joy. Balboa's new baby star. She and the pup are both wonders.

This is the emergency hospital. It is presided over by a trained nurse who administers expert first-aid.

Don't mind the talk. It's the vernacular of the films. The man said: "He's got things all juzzed up and it's a lousy job." Juzzed meaning balled; lousy meaning punk.

Desmond in New Drama. William Desmond is to be starred in "Time Lock and Diamonds," a scene of a new Triangle play, which is yet unnamed, were laid in the different departments of the Globe, New York's oldest newspaper. Wilfred Lucas and Edna Millar are featured in this play.

Charles Ray's new starring vehicle, "The Clodhopper," is to be released June 25.

Louise Inspires Poet. Louise Glaum, who is seen as the woman of the underworld in the new Triangle play, "Love or Justice," has a new title, "Peacock Siren," suggested by a poetical tribute which she received last week.

In spite of the fact that Violet Mersereau appeared for several years on the stage, notably in "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," she had never made a personal appearance as a screen star, until recently, when her Bluebird picture, "Little Miss Nobody," was run at the Marcus Loew theater, Broadway, Brooklyn.

When Miss Mersereau arrived at the theater, she found the streets so congested with admirers waiting to catch a glimpse of her that she was unable to approach the entrance. The ushers were powerless to control the crowd.

Mary MacLaren, featured in the fourth Butterfly picture, "Monday Madness," is rapidly earning the reputation of being one of the most reckless auto drivers in California. It is only recently that she has been a car owner, for a short year ago, Miss Mary was only an "extra" girl, and extra girls don't earn salaries which allow them to support automobiles in the luxury to which they have been accustomed. However, Miss Mary's rise has been of the meteoric character, and she has been the proud possessor of a car for some time. As soon as she had acquired it, she fell a victim of a bad case of speed mania, which has grown steadily worse.

Gale Henry is working on a comedy called, "It's Hard to Die."

Says Joe Frey:—

If somebody wants a comfortable home, I've got it for him.

My bungalow on South La Salle street, near Center Avenue, is ideal.

You live on the main floor only, where there are three good sized bedrooms, dining room, living room, kitchen and toilet; above is the maid's room, sun parlor and large attic; the basement has every modern requirement and a billiard room.

Take it from me—this is some comfy home. I have good personal reasons for selling, and will let it go cheap.

AMERICANS IN UNIFORM
IN LONDON CELEBRATION

(By Associated Press Special Wire)
London, June 2, 12:10 p. m.—American uniforms, worn by Chicago and Philadelphia units of physicians and nurses, were in a prominent position at a remarkable open air ceremony in Hyde Park today at which, under clear sky, King George awarded war decorations to 25 officers and men of the British army. It was the most elaborate affair of the kind ever held in London. At the front of the park's enormous closure was a canopied pavilion for members of the royal family, flanked by rows of chairs for their soldiers, sailors and nurses, designated for decorations together with the American delegations, representatives of the dominions and of Great Britain's allies, members of parliament and others.

Female school teachers in Boston have won the first step in the fight to give them equal salaries with the men.
